NEWS in BRIEF

JACKSON, Miss. (UPI) — The House passed a bill Tuesday requiring that the state's public school children be taught a pledge of allegiance to the Mississippi flag along with a similar pledge to the American flag.

The proposed pledge states that "I salute the flag of Mississippi with pride in her history and achievements and with confidence in her future under the guidance of almighty God."

LEOPOLDVILLE (UPI) — Congolese authorities today released blonde Elizabeth Thring who had been held in custody in connection with the bedroom slaying of Lt. Col. Hulen Stogner, U. S. assistant military attache in Leopoldville.

Miss Thring, 22, of Arlington, Va., described as Stogner's private secretary, was arrested last Saturday on a warrant charging suspicion in the slaying.

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Washington's elite cried bravo for Negro mezzo soprano Grace Bumbry and President Kennedy handed her down from the stage at a glittering White House party Tuesday night.

The 26-year-old singer, who flew from Paris to perform at the state dinner, said "This is the highest you can go when you sing for the President of your country."

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — Gregory Pappy Boyington, author of World War II Air Ace, Tuesday announced plans to enter the political wars.

Boyington, 49, a missile consulting engineer, said he would seek the Democratic nomination for Congress in the 30th District and would make opposition to foreign aid a key issue in his campaign.

DES MOINES, Iowa (UPI) — Former President Harry S. Truman Tuesday night called the John Birch Society the "Klu Klux Klan without the nightshirts."

He refused to discuss the Birch Society any further, because "why should I advertise such a group?" The ex-president addressed 600 persons at a Drake University law alumni dinner. Truman said he felt President Kennedy was "improving every day."

AND IT'S STILL COMING

Snow Belts Midwest Once More

By United Press International
The second near-blizzard in five days belted the Midwest with half a foot of new snow with 10 more inches expected today.

Portions of South Dakota, Nebraska and Iowa were virtually paralyzed by the new storm, which was accompanied by 35-mile winds, cutting visibility to zero.

Heavy snow warnings were up for 10 states.

For the second time in three days Sioux City, Iowa, called off classes for 22,000 school children. The six inches of new snow at Sioux City raised the total on the ground to 26 inches.

Housewives rushed to lay in provisions and groceries sold out of bread and milk Tuesday night at Sioux City. Taxis and buses were called off the streets, which had been reopened to traffic Monday.

Two snow plows became stuck in drifts near Sioux City and had to be abandoned.

Omaha, Neb., was almost isolated by snow blocking highways into the city.

Spencer, Iowa, had 6 inches of snow in six hours early today, bringing the total on the ground to 28 inches. Sioux Falls, S.D., which had a record 32-inch snowfall last weekend, got another half a foot.

The snow belt extended from Colorado to Ohio. South of it sleet and freezing rain glazed areas from Oklahoma to southern Illinois. There were thunderstorms from Texas through Louisiana.

In the upper Great Lakes the snow fall was light but the temperature dipped below zero. International Falls, Minn., reported 10 below zero early today. Below freezing temperatures were reported as far south as Virginia.

Half inch rain fell again today in muddy Southern California, same effect as the attempt to limit Western flight by reserving space in the lanes.

John Glenn Is Telling Of Sights

Condition Now Said Excellent

GRAND TURK ISLAND, Bahamas (UPI) — Astronaut John H. Glenn Jr. came through his three - orbit space trip around the world in "excellent condition" and began telling doctors and scientists today about what he saw in space.

"John is in excellent condition," Lt. Col. John A. Powers, astronaut spokesman, said. "A preliminary physical did not reveal any sign of physiological change."

Glenn got little sleep Tuesday night after being brought in triumph to this island in the Bahamas after his mission in space.

Fresh, Rested
Despite that, however, Powers said he was "fresh, rested and in good spirits" this morning.

He had been up, through space, picked up at sea, brought here and put through a series of examinations in the space of 24 hours. He did not get to bed until 1 a.m.

Despite that, he was up at 8:30 a.m. and eager to talk to the scores of scientists about what he saw in space and how he reacted to the experience of weightlessness. Apparently it did not hurt him.

Takes Balance Test
Dr. Ashton Graybiel, a Navy physician, put Glenn through a "walk the rail" balance test and reported his performance was "almost identical with that before flight." Powers said Dr. Graybiel "feels his sense of balance has not been affected."

Powers said Glenn, 40, had approached the sensation of weightlessness cautiously because of the nausea reported by Soviet cosmonaut Gherman Titov. Glenn moved his head cautiously at the outset of weightless flight in space to see if the experience made him dizzy, but he reported he had no trouble at all.

Back to Cape
Glenn was to spend two days at a small, prefabricated hospital here undergoing physical tests and giving his first vivid impressions of space to scientists. Then the Marine lieutenant colonel will return to Cape Canaveral for a hero's meeting with President Kennedy Friday.

His Friendship 7 space capsule was brought here by the destroyer Noa which picked the capsule and the astronaut from the Atlantic Ocean.

Glenn Will Get Hero's Welcome

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Kennedy and Congress joined today in arranging a proud hero's tribute for Lt. Col. John H. Glenn Jr. and his fellow astronauts.

There were these moves to show the nation's appreciation of Glenn's trail-breaking space voyage:

—A joint session of Congress was arranged for Monday to honor Glenn and the other six members of the U.S. astronaut team.

—Kennedy arranged to take Glenn's family with him when he flies to Florida Thursday. Kennedy Friday will pay personal tribute to Glenn for being the first American to orbit the earth.

—Resolutions to confer the Medal of Honor on Glenn were offered in the House and Senate. Sen. Kenneth B. Keating, R-N.Y., introduced a resolution to designate every Feb. 20 as Space Day in tribute to Glenn's exploit.

Harassment In Corridor Slows Down

BERLIN (UPI) — Soviet fighter planes appeared in the Berlin air corridors again today but refrained from harassing acrobatics around Western aircraft.

In a switch of tactics, the Russians dropped their announcement "reserving" certain altitudes for Soviet planes and, for the first time in years, gave the Western Allies flight information on their fighters.

Not since the 1948-49 Berlin blockade had the Russians filed anything resembling a flight plan with Berlin's four-power air safety center.

Western Allied sources said at first they did not know what to make of the latest Russian move. Some said it represented an improvement in that Western Allies were informed of Soviet flights and Western aircraft could watch for them.

But fears were expressed that the Russians might still send large numbers of aircraft into the Berlin air corridors, achieving the same effect as the attempt to limit Western flight by reserving space in the lanes.

—The White House announced that children would be released from school Monday to attend a gala parade here honoring Glenn.

Announcement of the joint House-Senate session came from Senate Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield who said it had been discussed with Kennedy. The President, the Montana said, was "very desirous that this be done."

He said that when Congress does honor to one of the astronauts, "we do honor to all."

Highway Crash Blamed onto Heavy Snows

PALM DESERT — Heavy snows on Highway 74 were blamed for a traffic accident Tuesday about 12 miles south of here (on the Palms to Pines Highway).

California Highway Patrol officers reported three victims of the crash were taken to Casita Hospital in Indio. Injured were: Jerome F. Magee, 33, of San Diego.

Howard S. Carr, 63, of Indio, and his wife, Edith, 64.

Officers said Magee was headed down the canyon and Carr was going up in a heavy snowfall and the two skidded together after both attempted to brake to a stop. None of the three was reported in serious condition.

Suggestion in Congratulatory Cable to JFK

MOSCOW (UPI) — Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev today proposed United States-Russian cooperation in future space exploration.

Khrushchev made the suggestion in a cable to President Kennedy, conveying "heartiest congratulations" and best wishes to Lt. Col. John Glenn for Tuesday's space flight.

Discussion Invitation Suggested

WASHINGTON (UPI) — A top Republican member of the House Space Committee said today President Kennedy should invite the Russians to exchange scientific observers at the next space shots conducted by the two nations.

Rep. James G. Fulton of Pennsylvania said that if this works out satisfactorily, the United States and Russia then could try a joint space venture next August to put a rocket near the planet Venus.

Fulton's comments followed Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev's suggestion for U.S.-Russian cooperation in exploring outer space.

Washington officials said Kennedy was expected to welcome Khrushchev's proposals.

Vice President Lyndon B. Johnson said Kennedy and former President Dwight D. Eisenhower both had advanced similar proposals in the past. Johnson said Khrushchev was merely copying the U.S. proposal.

"We're pretty much on the record with this," the vice president said.

Fulton said his plan for exchanging observers would provide "the best evidence" of whether the Russians really want to cooperate in outer space efforts.

Johnson, talking with reporters at the White House, recalled that he had "made the proposal at the request of President Eisenhower in 1958 or 1959" in a speech to the United Nations.

"President Kennedy has renewed it several times as he did in his speech to the United Nations last September," Johnson said.

The vice president, who also heads the National Space Council, said Kennedy renewed the idea in messages to Congress, including a broad reference to it in his State of the Union Message Jan. 29, 1961.

Earlier Kennedy Suggestions
In Washington, officials said Kennedy could be expected to welcome Khrushchev's suggestion. They pointed out that Kennedy has several times made this suggestion.

He did so in a message to Khrushchev in April 1961, when he offered congratulations on Gagarin's space flight. He did so again in his speech to the United Nations last September when he spoke of his hope that the major powers could pool their efforts for peaceful activity in outer space.

American officials expressed gratification at Khrushchev's proposal, but they cautioned that difficulties would arise when it came to specific implementation.

In London, a British government spokesman declined to comment immediately on the Khrushchev suggestion.

The Soviet Union and the United States cooperated on scientific studies during the 1957-58 International Geophysical Year. Some of that cooperation has continued in Antarctic scientific work up to the present day. But despite overtures for cooperation in the space field, first made by the United States, the Soviet Union up to now has done nothing.

Appointment Of Trustee On March 8

PALM DESERT — Trustees of the Coachella Valley Junior College district are expected to appoint a new member to their board at their next meeting, Mar. 8.

The way was cleared for such an addition at an adjourned meeting last night when the resignation of Trustee William W. Cook was accepted "with regret."

Cook, who plans to run for the office of County Supervisor from Riverside County's fourth district, tendered his resignation at the last board meeting, Feb. 8. It was not accepted at that time pending board discussion on a successor.

Present membership in the five member panel includes Chairman Donald H. Mitchell, Ray R. Rumsfelds, D. M. McGahey and Mrs. Helen K. Staley. Cook is from Palm Desert and the board may choose another central-valley-based trustee, but they are not compelled to do so.

Public Defender Case Probes by Bar Considered

The Desert Bar Association today is investigating the feasibility of providing investigators to procure evidence in support of court cases handled by the office of the public defender.

The public defender and his aides are appointed to defend indigent persons accused of major crimes — many of which are based in a factual situation that can be supported only by persons other than the defendant. And these can only be checked through investigation.

The study was called by the board of trustees of the Desert Bar Association at its monthly meeting at the Normandy House in Indio. The committee to study the program includes attorneys Thomas Anderson, John Carroll and Frank Moore.

A second committee appointed during the session was a Law Library Committee, consisting of Henry V. Cleary, Leon Rosenberg and David McGahey. The meeting was conducted by Cleary, Bar president.

The union negotiators have been meeting this week to shape common contract demands to be served on missile-making firms, including such major employers as Curtiss-Wright, Aerojet-General, Douglas, General Dynamics, Republic, Lockheed, Martin and McDonnell. Contracts covering 289,000 employees of these and other firms are scheduled to expire in the next six months.

Goldberg told the union leaders they could "serve the interest of your membership best by serving the interest of the country first." He said settlements should "set the stage for high levels of production, for increasing productivity and for price stability."

Wayward Cart Found; Now on Track of Radio

The wayward electric luggage cart of the Biltmore Hotel was found by Palm Springs police Tuesday, parked behind a trailer park market in the 500 block of South Palm Canyon Drive.

No suspect has been apprehended in the cross town joyride case, but officers are tracing reports of witnesses who said a slender youth was seen riding in the cart five days ago.

Roaring 20s Party Set

PALM DESERT — Plans were started Tuesday in the semi-weekly chamber of commerce meeting here for the second annual "Roaring Twenties" party.

Because of the huge success of the first one last May, which netted the chamber $3600, plans will be patterned in much the same way.

Hal Smith was named chairman for the group to prepare for the party, which will be held towards the end of May, according to McNeilly.

The party is held in the large parking lot behind the chamber office, with outdoor dinners served. The money made in the project is used in beautification projects by the chamber. Funds last year went for the palm planting, watering system and gas lights for the north frontage road.

Gigantic Parade Set Tomorrow

INDIO — "Warm, sunny days, balmy evenings and a calendar bulging with special events make the 16th annual Riverside County Fair and National Date Festival at Indio the recommended trip of the week," is the hope of fair officials.

It continues through Sunday, the 25th.

According to Manager Bob Fullenwider, the expected 230,000 visitors will not want for activity.

A gigantic Washington's Day parade is slated Thursday. This invitational event will feature more than 5,000 participants, 35 top-notch bands, 20 floats and 32 special marching units. Theme is Arabian.

Starting time in downtown Indio will be at 10:30 a.m. It will disperse at the Festival grounds.

Two performances of the famed Arabian Night Pageant will be held on the day. They will be at 6:45, the usual hour, and 8:20 p.m.

Two showings also will be given Saturday.

Festival visitors can view the pageant free of charge.

Friday evening will be date night. Midway rides will be on a "two for the price of one" basis for couples who turn out to join in the fun.

One of the Festival's major events — a Salute to Baja California — will take place Sunday.

Baja California Governor Elgin Esquivel will be the honored guest. A special program of Mexican entertainment, featuring mariachis, singers and dancers, will be staged at 2 p.m. The entertainers are coming to Indio at the invitation of Governor Esquivel.

A street dance on the grounds the night before will kick off the festivities.

Thousands of exhibits are on display in more than a dozen buildings. They range from citrus and date to swine in the livestock department.

A national horse show at 1 p.m. and camel and ostrich race are held at 2:30 p.m.

A Matter of Mind

By Dr. Arthur Janov

A patient of mine was injured in a skiing accident recently. Without benefit of any lessons he decided to take the steepest slope. He was courting disaster and disaster was most accommodating. When an otherwise intelligent man undertakes an irrational act such as this, the forces that drive him to do it must be weighty. We examined some of the possible reasons for his act.

Sometimes disaster is necessary for us to become acquainted with ourselves. It helps us achieve some kind of identity by answering questions that parents left unanswered. In this case it answered the questions "Am I brave — Can I take it?"

Substitute Test
In the absence of a strong father to model himself after, he had no way to understand how manly and virile he was. He needed a concrete measure — the steeper the slope the more he was a man. He found an tangible and measurable way to gain safe identity.

This man found out that he could be brave and withstand the pain of a broken leg without whimpering. His parents were both critical and aloof. Their lack of loving physical contact with him forced him to hurt himself against the world until something physical stung him (He also drove a sports car at managerial speeds). "No, no" meant nothing to this person even since childhood.

The only thing he could understand was something he could feel. A broken leg was certainly a strong feeling. It told him that he had gone too far. It achieved what his parents could never do. It stopped him and set the limits and garnered him attention and concern. It told him there's a real world out there.

Sense of Relief
He took this stoppage with a great sense of relief. For a while he wouldn't have to prove himself any longer — he had living proof of his prowess in the past he carried around. This injury would save him from himself and he unconsciously knew it was for the best. If he had had parents who cared enough to stop him he perhaps wouldn't have to have the world do it.

The skiing, auto speeding and other daredevil acts were his way to find the boundaries of life and, without the ability to anticipate consequences or to have a feeling about what might happen. Disaster told him where they were. It seemed that nothing short of some dramatic act would bring any feeling from his impassive parents throughout his life. Unable to understand psychological (intangible) suffering, his parents could only be attentive when they could see the hurt and my patient was never at a loss for hurts.

Aloof Parents
The kind of parents who tend to be aloof and critical not only do not help a child prepare for life but also do not help his understanding and preparation for death. This man had an inordinate fear of death. This fear, like so many of his fears, were not conscious but exerted a driving force nevertheless. He sought substitute fears in the world that he could master. He drummed up substitute tensions from which there was relief.

The skier, while not conscious of his fear of death, felt afterwards, "look, I've had a brush with death and I've mastered it — so it really can't be too bad." My patient had never learned how to approach himself as a person and find out about himself, his identity, his fears, etc. He unconsciously projected all of his inner conflicts out into the world where he could see them and deal with them.

The unfortunate part of this is that disasters usually do not draw a lesson for these people because the inner driving forces have never been understood and dealt with.

Rodeo Searching For Top Cowgirl

SALINAS — Members of the board of directors of the California Rodeo here are launching a five months search for this state's finest young cowgirl. She must be able to ride, wear western clothes well, and be a good scholar. The contest is open to all senior high school girls in California and, for purposes of the contest, a "senior" is defined as one who was graduated in June, 1962, or is about to enter her senior year in the fall. Contestants may enter only once and may not have been married prior to the completion of judging at Salinas.

In addition to the $500 scholarship to the all-around winner, trophies will be awarded in each of the three phases of the contest.

These are horsemanship, 40 per cent, personality and appearance in Western attire, 40 per cent, and scholarship 20 per cent.

Trip to Rodeo. Candidates and their chaperones will have all expenses paid by the California Rodeo during the judging at Salinas and a candidates will be presented on horseback at the opening of the rodeo.

The Sweetheart will receive her scholarship as the first event of the rodeo. Trophies for the individual phases will be presented at a "Sweetheart" banquet the same night.

Further information on the contest may be obtained by writing M. R. Burke, Contest Chairman, P. O. Box 1648, Salinas, California.

Grin and Bear It

By LICHTY

"I'm out of the house and off to my job, Mrs. Figby!... I discovered it's the ideal way to adjust to my husband's retirement!"

Dennis the Menace

"It's a NEW KIND of SANDWICH: ONE PIECE OF BREAD BETWEEN TWO LAYERS OF PEANUT BUTTER!"

Wall Street Chatter

NEW YORK (UPI) — Kenneth Ward of Hayden, Stone & Co. says there was some selective technical damage done during the 6 per cent January setback. Ward points out the drop actually was led by the decline of only seven stocks in the D-J industrial averages, and this will require further time consuming base building.

But oddly enough, he states, almost 300 stocks reached new highs during this period. "Quite an impressive record for a so-called bear trend."

According to Standard & Poor's, pending investigations of the government's huge stockpiles of strategic and critical materials confuse the outlook for nonferrous metals. Obviously, if the government should decide to dispose of excess supplies, the prospects for metal prices would be dimmed considerably. "However, the economic consequences of any widespread selling from the stockpiles, along with diplomatic and domestic political consideration, seem to preclude any disruptive disposal of materials."

Interest Lively on Farm Plan

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The Kennedy administration farm proposals have evoked a lively and inquiring interest among both farm and city dwellers throughout the country, according to Agriculture Secretary Orville L. Freeman.

The program would give farmers a choice between strict production and marketing controls and price supports, or no controls with little or no price propping. Additionally, the administration proposed diversion of cropland to recreational uses which it said would benefit both the farmer and the city dweller.

There was a strong and deep interest in the farm proposals sent to Congress last month by President Kennedy, Freeman told a news conference Thursday. This interest, he said, included both support and opposition. He said there was a heartening sign of concern with the questions facing agriculture and the farmers, and willingness to discuss them rationally and sensibly.

Freeman expressed his opinion of interest in farm problems after a speech-making tour of the Midwest, the Northeast, the South and the East. He made 12 speeches in 16 days before a total audience of more than 12,000 persons. At Chicago, he said, between 1,500 and 2,000 farmers kept him busy after his speech for three hours answering questions about the farm program. "I do not know, nor would I attempt to guess," Freeman said, "how many were convinced that the farm proposals provide the answer to agriculture's needs."

MEMORIES, not necessarily fond, will be recalled to many Palm Springs residents by this picture taken in San Jacinto, N. D. It's the result of a 31-inch plus snowfall in the area which required digging out by this church janitor. (UPI Telephoto)

THOUSAND PALMS

An Evening of Fun For Young People

THOUSAND PALMS — The young people of Thousand Palms are given an evening of fun every Wednesday, from 7 to 8 P.M., at the Community Church. The hour is spent in story time, games, singing and refreshments. Mrs. Eleanor Lennie and Mrs. Harry Wallace are the leaders in charge. A Valentine party was given this week. There was a valentine box, from which each one drew one for himself. After games which were enjoyed by all, ice cream, cookies, valentine candies and Kool-Ade were served.

Mr. and Mrs. Dan Blythe and daughter Beverly Ann are here spending his ten day leave from the army, he being stationed near Lookwood. They are visiting Mr. and Mrs. Chester Williams of the Ivey Ranch. Mrs. Blythe and Mrs. Williams are sisters. The Blythes are former residents of Thousand Palms, where he was a United Parcel employee, before entering the service. They are both fondly remembered for the beautiful music they make together.

Mr. and Mrs. Dewey Wallace will be hosting their daughter, Joan from Riverside, another daughter and family, Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Smith and two children from LaPuenta, and Mr. and Mrs. Kirby Masters from Yucaipa. The guests are expected for the week of the National Date Festival in Indio.

A strong wind and sand blow was reported Friday morning in Hidden Springs; a fact difficult to explain because they are well protected and usually escape the sand.

Electric power was disrupted for several hours at the Thousand Palms business corner, Friday morning, while the pole and cable were installed across the new or-pas. No gasoline could be pumped, nor very few other services offered at the service station, refrigeration was cut off for the grocery store and even the tavern was in darkness.

Such brief interruptions can be tolerated however, when we consider what a boon for the community of Thousand Palms, the new overpass will be. We will greatly appreciate being able to drive in or out, without risking our lives in crossing a heavily traveled highway and a rail road track as well.

Mrs. Abby Dovey from the state of Iowa, is here for an extended visit with her son and family, Mr. and Mrs. Loyd P. Dovey on Arbol Road.

Angels Hold First Workout

By BOB ABBEY

Led by skipper Bill Rigney, the Los Angeles Angels donned their uniforms this morning for the first time in 1962 to raise the curtain on their spring training season at the Polo Grounds.

After the heavens opened up and drenched the desert area Monday, the scheduled opening day session yesterday was not held and the slated "photo day" was held today.

Flocks of photographers, newsreel and television men swarmed the Polo Grounds today getting pictures of the '62 squad of LA Angels.

Rig Gathers Squad

Although a little moisture fell early this morning, Rig gathered his crew of ball players at their headquarters at the Desert Inn and journeyed to the ball park for their initial workout of the season which will continue into early April.

Even though the sun was shin-

ALBIE PEARSON, flashy outfielder for the LA Angels, didn't like the looks of the pool of water near the Polo Grounds third base yesterday when the majority of the ball club reported to Manager Bill Rigney for a clubhouse session. Pearson "faked" a swan-dive pose. (Desert Sun Photo)

ing brightly at the Polo Grounds yesterday, the field was entirely too wet and small patches of water stood scattered throughout the infield.

The Walnut Creek Skipper called a meeting in the clubhouse to introduce 18 newcomers to 28 players who were with the Angels last season. Rig outlined the training program for the next 17 days and again stressed his intentions on working on basic fundamentals for the first few weeks of training.

3 Angels Missing

Only three of the 46 Angels on the '62 roster were missing yesterday. Pitcher Bob Belinsky and infielder/outfielder Felix Torres, who have been playing winter ball in the Canal Zone joined veteran hurler Art Fowler on the missing list.

After the "photo day" session today, the Angel squad will get down to serious training. Sliding pits have been added to the Polo Grounds training facilities and after each ball player finishes his turn in the batting cage, he will hit the sliding pits.

Rig has indicated that speed will be a very important factor in the Angels new ball park at Chavez Ravine. So he and his coaches will have his squad—one of the youngest in the major leagues—running a great deal of the time to get their legs conditioned and to build up speed.

Bilko Is Trim

Steve Bilko, the Angels slugging first baseman, had something missing from last year's physical fixtures. He reported to camp yesterday looking trim and the familiar bulge around the mid-section has vanished.

A few of the players clowned a little for the few "shutter-bugs" people who were at the Polo Grounds yesterday to look the flock of Angels over. Ball players are known for their "horse play" and pleased the photographers in letting them get a few snaps prior to today's "photo day."

WADSWORTH TO COMPETE

CLEVELAND, Ohio (UPI)—Officials of the Cleveland Knights of Columbus track meet have announced that Henry Wadsworth of the Army will compete March 16 to defend the pole vault title he won last year.

It is not yet known whether 16 footer John Uelses of the Marines will compete.

WITH THE official opening day of spring training for the Los Angeles pushed back one day because of rain, these Angels outfielders, who played together on the '61 team, engage in a little "horse play" near a mud puddle at the Polo Grounds yesterday. Left to right, are Leon Wagner and Kent Hunt, jovial tormentors, who threaten to dump Albie Pearson in the water. (Desert Sun Photo)

TRACK STAR INELIGIBLE
BERKELEY, Calif. (UPI)—The University of California has declared star tennis player Jim McManus scholastically ineligible for intercollegiate competition.

A GREAT DVL WIN

Indians Upset Broncos, 58-48

There is joy in the Indians camp today!

The Palm Springs basketball team pulled the upset of the season last night when they scalped the Banning Broncos, the DVL leaders, 58-48, at the local gym.

Up until last night's defeat at the hands of the fired-up Redmen, the Banning crew had won eight straight league victories and were "home free" to a DVL championship. The Indians now boast a 6-3 record in league play and will go for all the marbles Friday right when they journey to Yucaipa to tangle with the T-Birds for the undisputed runner-up spot in the DVL.

The Yucaipa five, led by the league's leading scorer, Ted Page, narrowly squeezed out a victory over Coachella Valley, 35-34, last night to give them a 6-3 standing in the derby race.

The three little Indians that led the attack for the Tribe were Ty-ronne Taylor, who canned an even-20 points, Mark Edwards, who was flipping in 10 tallies and Gus

Walton, who ripped the cords for 16 markers.

Ray Curtis, Banning's center, won game honors for the losers as he deposited a total of 17 points through the hoop. Only one other Bronco, John Plank scored in double figures. He registered 10 points in a losing cause.

The Banning crew led at the close of the first stanza, 14-9, and it looked like the league leaders were on their merry way to chalk- ing up another win. In the second period, the Tribe quintet ignited like the Atlas-Mercury rocket which carried Astronaut John H. Glenn Jr., around the world three times yesterday, and siz- zled the cords for 20 points while they held the Broncos to a mere eight. When the buzzer sounded ending the first half, Coach George Hertzkes' crew were lead- ing by seven points.

During the third quarter, Ban- ning slipped 16 tallies through the nets while the Tribemen were add- ing 11. This narrowed the Indians margin to four points, as the two teams headed down the home stretch in the final stanza.

Palm Springs picked up eight straight tallies and boosted their lead to ten points. This was the rally that broke the Broncos backs, for they were not able to take up the slack and at the close of the eight minutes of play in the last quarter. At the end the Indians did the "victory dance" and posted a 58-48 DVL victory.

Joy ran in pairs for the Palm Springs high school basketball teams last night as the Papooses' knocked over the Junior Broncos, 43-41, to snap an 18 game win- ning string. Frank Riever beat the loudest "war drum" in that bat- tle as he hit the nets for 21 tallies to lead his team to victory.

Tom Sanders sparked the Cel- tics with 26 points.

Tramway Board Hears Ad Men

Representatives from seven advertising agencies seeking the account of Palm Springs Aerial Tramway were heard Tuesday morning at a special meeting of the Mt. San Jacinto Winter Park Authority.

The board plans to hold another meeting March 20 when it is expected to award the advertising contract to one of the agencies.

GRANT C. BUTLER

Dinner Club Meeting Set

From sports writer and announcer to one of the top authorities on the Middle East is the accomplishment of Grant B. Butler, who left his job as a public relations man after spending several years as Field Representative for the American Arabian Oil Company in "hot-in-the-news" Saudi Arabia.

Butler will be the guest speaker of the Desert Dinner Club when it meets for dinner Tuesday evening at the Riviera Hotel in Palm Spring. The social hour commences at 6:30 for the "black tie" affair.

TAREN HOSPITALIZED

David Taren, 22, son of Mr. and Mrs. Paul Taren of the Tamarisk area, is in Parkview Hospital, Riverside, for surgery on his left arm. The knife job was necessary because this is a second break. David has been working with his father in development of desert area land and homes.

Three Palm Springs companies, three from Los Angeles and one from Riverside each offered the board suggestions and ideas for an advertising program in the limited $30,000 budget set aside from the original bond sale.

One of the agencies, Craig, Reed Fouts, and Lilly, of Los Angeles, contended that the small budget precluded a general advertising program. Ellis Craig, president of the agency told board members that his national promotional agency could obtain the necessary advertising "piggy-back" on national-wide television program.

Like Airlines

He cited as an example the airline advertising made on programs which fly in contestants from all over the country. Craig said only four or five agencies in the country do this type of work.

The other agencies presented a more normal program for advertising which included use of pamphlets, billboards, newspaper and magazine advertising, radio and television and travel posters.

The two other Los Angeles agencies heard were the Davis, Johnson, Mogul and Colombario group, and the Advertising Advisers.

Three Then Lunch

Riverside agency involved was the Hogan and Vecchio group, while the three Palm Springs groups were the G. Bruce Carpenter Associates, the Ball Advertising Agency and the Taylor-Jones agency.

Three presentations were heard before lunch, while the remaining four were heard in an afternoon session which lasted until 4 p.m. Board members present were Chairman Earl Coffman, Secretary Francis Crocker, and Mayor Frank Bogert and V. W. Grubbs.

Absent members were Sauley J. O'Neill, Virgil Davidson and J. G. Nusbaum.

RECORD SELLER SENTENCED

MOSCOW (UPI) — A Moscow court has sentenced a Muscovite to five years in prison for selling rock 'n' roll records for a profit, the newspaper Soviet Russia said Friday.

The newspaper said V. Bochkaev did not want to work regularly for a living, so he bought a large quantity of records for about 42 cents each and resold them at $1.10 apiece.

Westview Zoning Change Okayed by City Council

A conditioned zone change for 13.34 controversial acres on the city golf course squeaked through the Palm Springs city council 4-2 on the second time through.

The change, for Westview Development Corp., will permit build-er Richard J. Hanousek to construct 124 Japanese-styled one- and two-story cooperative apartment units on the site.

Last condition attached to the change — made after a 3-3 tie vote — called for tying the development into the city sewage system. The condition could add an additional $125,000 to the cost of the project, Hanousek said.

For 13,000

He has sought permission to install a "satisfactory" sewage system which would have required councilmanic approval, but might be a separate plant on the site.

Public Works Director Thomas Essen recommended that whatever system is used it be designed for the total expected area demand of 13,000 persons.

The council sent back to the city planning commission the ordinance for a conditioned R-2 limited multiple dwelling zoning for Tahquitz Development Enterprise on Section 14. The developers asked elimination of a public street proposed for the apartment area.

The council approved an application by Frank Gaudiello to move a residence from the northwest corner of Hermosa Place and North Palm Canyon Drive to the northeast corner of Vial Alamira and Arquilla Road.

A March 5 hearing was set on the application by Richard Brown Arenas and Edmond Peter Siva for a change of zone from single family residence to trailer for South Palm Canyon Drive property, north of the extension of LaVerne Way.

A March 12 hearing was set for the spread of assessments on Assessments District 37, including portions of San Lucas Road, North Riverside Drive and Sunny Dunes Road.

City Faces Control of Erosion

City councilmen and planning commission members stood solidly behind wind erosion control during informal luncheon discussions concerning a proposed ordinance now up for councilmanic action.

The discussion could not develop any firm conclusions—action which is reserved for public council meetings.

Mayor Frank M. Bogert told the Riviera luncheon group that "no one should be allowed to clear (land) upwind from anything." He said blow sand would "be a problem for 20 years unless somebody does something."

Vice Mayor Kenneth Kirk termed the blow sand problem "a serious situation involving hundreds of thousands of dollars." He said inadequate planning added to the problem of persons who buy property on wind-free days and subsequently learn they are in a serious sand damage area. Kirk said the city public relations problem "worries me."

Mayor Bogert pressed for tree planting before construction is permitted in sand areas. Bogert and John Miller, chairman of the planning commission, both plugged for tamarisk trees. They explained the tamarisk grew rapidly, and provide an early ground hedge to break wind flow and stop sand movement.

To Show Film At Moose Lodge

"The Mooseheart Story," depicting the life of "Child City," will be shown at the Moose Lodge on Feb. 28, at 8 p.m.

WORLD'S NUMBER ONE reporter, Bob Considine of Hearst Headline Service, will be the speaker for the Palm Springs Woman's Club's night meeting on Mar. 5, and such a big crowd is expected that the meeting will be held in Desert Museum, which seats 400. Members will be given first seating preference according to Club President Mrs. Irwin Wright.

Considine To Speak In Village

Bob Considine, who is generally referred to as the World's Number One reporter, has confirmed his speaking engagement and will address members of the Palm Spring Woman's Club and their guests, when he appears here on the evening of March 5. His appearance here is made possible by the $5,000 fund which the club received from Mrs. Austin McManus to finance better programs.

Considine was honored in a resolution adopted by Los Angeles County Supervisors during his recent visit in that city. The resolution, presented by Supervisor Warren Dorn, a frequent Palm Springs visitor, described Considine as "one of the most versatile, lucid, prolific and respected news reporters in the nation."

In between visits to Cape Canaveral, where he has been keeping an eye on space activities, Considine has traveled to Italy, to NATO headquarters near Paris, SEC headquarters at Omaha, Neb., Colorado Springs and other far-flung places gathering material for his forthcoming feature "We Can Bury You, Mr. K." He was in Los Angeles for that same purpose.

Long considered a "Newspaperman's newspaperman," Considine belongs in the Newspaper Hall of Fame for such beautiful prose as his story of the funeral of the late Pope, which was front-paged on all Hearst newspapers.

The Palm Springs lecture will be held in the Desert Museum to allow more people to attend. Seating preference will be given to Woman's Club members, but any remaining seats will be available to the public according to Program Chairman Mrs. Howard Matthews.

He is expected to speak on some form of current events, or perhaps on his new series.

Paulette Fink To Speak at UJA Meeting

Mrs. Paulette Fink, chairman of the National Women's Division of the United Jewish Appeal, will speak at the opening session of the UJA 7th Western Region Leadership Conference, to be held at the Riviera Hotel Feb. 23-25.

Throughout World War II, Mrs. Fink, a member of the Maquis (the Free French Underground Forces), worked to rescue Jewish orphaned children from the Nazis and helped the establishment of homes to shelter the thousands of homeless waifs during the occupation.

Following the war, the French heroine worked with Aliyah Beth, the organization which conducted secret immigration to Palestine, then under British mandate. As a UJA representative, Mrs. Fink participated in the famous "Operation Magic Carpet" of 1948, which saw the airlifting of 45,000 Jews from Yemen to Israel.

Tickets to the convention may be obtained at the Riviera, and information may be had by calling the Jewish Community Center.

Plan Tree Memorials, Save-a-Palm Week

Trees as living memorials and a "Save a Palm" Week were among the suggestions made when members of the steering committee of Desert Beautiful were luncheon guests of Mrs. Austin McManus at the Tennis Club. Plans were outlined by Mrs. Clifford Henderson, who is committee chairman.

Additional chairmen named to represent their areas by Mrs. Henderson were: Mrs. George O. Wheeler, Palm Springs Woman's Club; Mrs. Harold Bentley and Mrs. Robert Quinn, Cathedral City Jr. Woman's Club, and Mrs. Esther D. Eaton and Mrs. Marie Donahy of Desert Hot Springs Chamber of Commerce.

Mrs. McManus commented that the time is long over due for a united, community-wide effort to preserve the beauty of the desert.

Attending were: Mrs. Irvin D. Wright, president of the Palm Springs Woman's Club; Mrs. Chester Fenton, president of the Shadow Mountain Palette Club, and the Coordinating Council of Coachella Valley; Misses Sally Daniels and Joan Wyman, representing the Soroptomist Club of Coachella Valley; and Mrs. John Moon of the Palm Desert Woman's Club; and Thirza Schenk, publicity chairman, who was formerly active with "Los Angeles Beautiful."

Other representatives from the lower Coachella Valley were not able to attend as they were participating in the opening of the National Date Festival in Indio. The next meeting is scheduled for Wednesday, Mar. 14, at Shadow Mountain Club.

To Attend Dinner

When the Riverside County Bar Association holds its installation dinner Friday evening at Victoria Country Club in Riverside, the Desert Bar Association will be represented by its president, Henry V. Cleary and his wife.

OF PRESERVING OASES

Columnist Speaks to Women

"Oases in the Sunlight of Memory" themed the talk of Columnist Ed Ainsworth when he appeared on the February program for Palm Desert Woman's Club.

Looking down on the desert as seen from three mountain peaks, Mt. San Jacinto, Mt. Palomar and Signal Mountain near Calexico, Ainsworth envisioned two centuries of people who had traversed it. He talked of people like Lt. Joseph C. Ives and the little iron vessel that was built in Pennsylvania and assembled on the Lower Colorado to sail up and down, until it was blown into the wastelands in 1870. In 1930, fighting through thickets of arrowweed and clouds of mosquitoes, he found and photographed the wasted ribs of the boat among the sand dunes near San Luis, Mexico.

The columnist talked about De Anza, and how he crossed the desert where flaming ocotillos bloomed among the palo verde trees, and speculated that perhaps it was this unusual beauty that kept people coming to the desert. He talked about Nellie Coffman and told how she once hired a donkey and rode up to the point where the tramway will end, to look out over the desert.

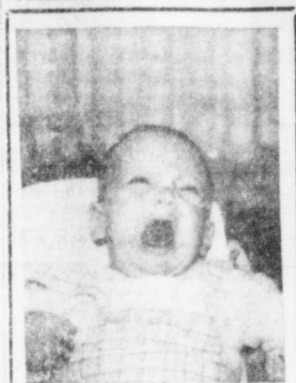

Long a desert lover, Ainsworth lived on the desert when living was primitive. He commented on the change as thousands of visitors come in each year. The desert, he said, has created a new style of architecture, a new way of living and an intellectual renaissance, warning that a way must be found to keep oases of tranquility and hope, and the natural wonder of the desert.

The stimulating talk followed a short business meeting held by president, Mrs. Roy McCall. It was unanimously voted to accept the by-laws, the new amendment to establish the Palm Desert Woman's Club Scholarship Fund. Loans will be made to sophomores or graduates of College of the Desert and the fund will be administered in accordance with the policies adopted by the College Board of Trustees. The names of recipients will be made known annually to the Woman's Club and the interest earned will remain with the principal. The money raised by this year's fashion show will be added to the fund.

Mrs. Robert L. Coates, decoration chairman, was in charge of the decorated tables. The pink carnations on lace-backed red Valantines were the work of the new Teen Angel group in Palm Desert. Two beautiful red and white floral pieces, enhanced the main table. Mrs. John Vale introduced the hostess of the day, Mrs. Fred Cady, and her assistants, the Mmes. S. E. Arscott, Telford Thronson, and Ludlow Flower. Mrs. Joan Wyman will be the hostess for the March meeting.

The Rudy Kings Celebrate On Golden Anniversary

Celebrating the anniversary of the day they were married in Paducah, Kentucky fifty years ago, Mr. and Mrs. Rudy C. King of 1285 Buena Vista Drive, gathered their family and a few friends about them.

For the Kings there was a show of cards and gifts, including a gold wrist watch for each of them from their son and daughter.

For the guests there was a bounteous buffet that offered turkey and ham and a four layer cake trimmed in yellow roses and bearing the big "50" that marked their Golden Anniversary. Golden ribbons and sprays of golden flowers decorated the buffet table for the festive event.

Here to help their parents celebrate were, their son and his wife, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas W. King of Pomona, and their daughter and her husband, Mr. and Mrs. Paul Maggairo of Palm Springs.

Also: Mrs. King's sister and brother-in-law, the Walter Carpen ters of Cadiz, Ky.; Mr. and Mrs. Albert Collins and the Carl Fatzers of Los Angeles, the Les Kings (no relation) of Alhambra and the Jack Sniders of Hollywood.

The Kings moved to California in 1916, settling in So. Pasadena, where they lived for close to 30 years, while he was with the Railway Express Agency in Los Angeles. After his retirement the couple moved to Palm Springs three years ago. He is a security officer at El Mirador Hotel.

GENERAL TENDENCIES: One of your best days to gain the good will of all others by thinking about their problems and helping them to get what they desire. There is a wonderful spirit of co-operation in the air and all who use this day to have better relations, agreements, contracts, deals, understanding with associates make big headway.

ARIES (Birthdays from Mar. 21 to Apr. 19) — This is one of those fine days and evenings when associates, comrades, kin are all willing to cooperate with you in whatever you may have in mind, but it requires that you get in touch with them early and state ideas.

TAURUS (Birthdays from Apr. 20 to May 20) — Take time in a.m. to get office or abode in such charming and neat order that others will be delighted to dwell or work therein. This leads to greater efficiency, too. Don't neglect garden, pets (or your health) in p.m. before retiring.

GEMINI (Birthdays from May 21 to June 21) — Be sure you plan more satisfying ways of amusing yourself during spare time. You will find that fine benefits can be yours also while combining business with pleasure. Step out in p.m. in elegant attire and make new contacts.

MOON CHILDREN (Birthdays from June 22 to July 21) — Kin feel you are the one to get them out of various dilemmas at this time, so be sure you don't disappoint them. Bring out that fine personality full of cheer and bravado that can conquer almost anything. Be generous.

LEO (Birthdays from July 22 to Aug. 21) — It would be best to put aside that imperious Leo nature and be more cooperative with others so that you truly help them as well as yourself and get a great deal accomplished. Use your hands more — a little dirt won't hurt them.

VIRGO (Birthdays from Aug. 22 to Sept. 22) — Get busy cutting down on expenses, whether this concerns personal property or business interests, and make a good impression upon higher-ups as well as beginning to operate on more even keel. Think and "expand".

LIBRA (Birthdays from Sept. 23 to Oct. 22) — Make sure you know what it is you want to accomplish today, since you are so dynamic that almost anything is possible to you now. Dress up, be very sociable in P.M.

SCORPIO (Birthdays from Oct. 23 to Nov. 21) — You like to delve into mysteries and the seeming unfathomable. You have a fine opportunity and reason for doing so today. This brings excellent results. Then the evening can be most happy with the one you love most in this world.

SAGITTARIUS (Birthdays from Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) — Look to that wonderful friend who is highly intelligent as well as most attractive for the answers to certain problems you now have and follow advice quickly. Get out with groups in p.m. and have a marvelous time.

CAPRICORN (Birthdays from Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) — You are in a friendly mood today and others will respond in kind, so be sure you handle important business career affairs wisely. Evening is fine for a bit of strutting, too, as you display your finest talents in right circles.

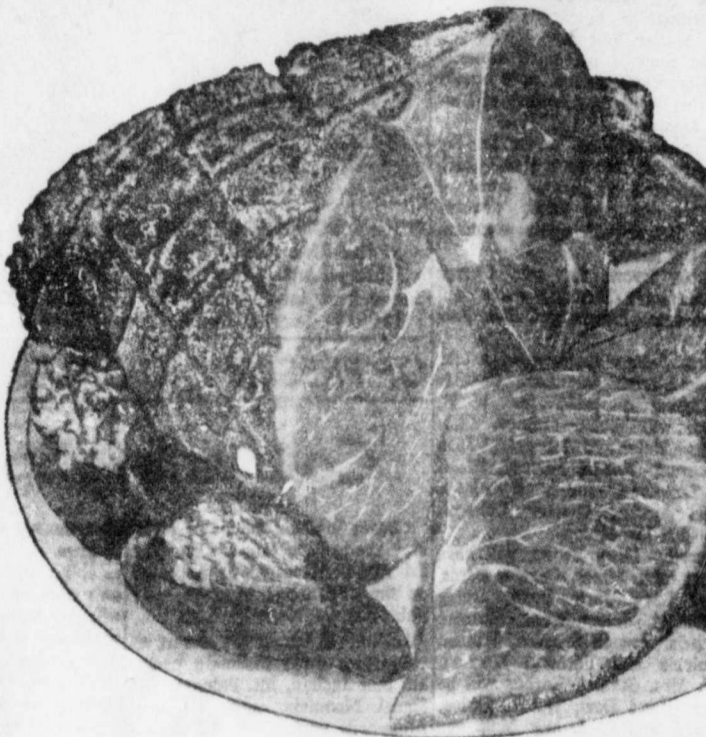

AQUARIUS (Birthdays from Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) — By being alert and broad-minded you are now able to garner many fine, new ideas that can be put into operation quickly to your benefit. Don't neglect to read your newspaper and do some research work that is vital as well.

PISCES (Birthdays from Feb. 20 to Mar. 20) — Listen to your intuitive promptings today if you want to get the greatest benefits possible. These can also help you to come to a far better understanding with usual allies and those who do not always agree with you. Be quietly positive.

If Your Child Is Born Today, He, or she, will be the possessor of such a fine personality that everyone will be drawn to your pretty progeny and spoil him, or her, very early in life, if you do not teach early that gifts are fine, but that whatever is earned by own efforts is infinitely more worthwhile. Then the chart becomes very successful, especially in the field of arts and creative expression.

INCOME TAX SERIES Count Exemptions; Worth $600 Each

(EDITOR'S NOTE: This is the third of a new series telling how to pay your federal income taxes—without paying a penny more than you really owe. Today's subject: Exemptions.)

By EDWARD COWAN
WASHINGTON (UPI)—You're required to report your total income on your federal tax return, but you aren't taxed on all of it. The law allows you to subtract sizable amounts from your total income in calculating your "taxable income."

For most taxpayers, the two main ways of reducing total income are (1) exemptions; and (2) deductions. We'll discuss exemptions in this dispatch, and deductions in the next one.

It is very important for you to claim all the exemptions to which you are entitled, because every exemption reduces your income by $600 for tax purposes.

Every taxpayer automatically gets an exemption for himself. (That's why a single person with no dependents pays no tax if his income is $600 or less.)

A married person gets one exemption for himself and one for his wife—unless she is listed as a dependent on someone else's return, such as a parent's, or unless she has filed a separate return of her own claiming herself as an exemption.

The rule is that a person can be a full dependent of only one taxpayer. This means that when a couple files separate individual returns, each must list himself and neither can claim the other. Both can be listed in a joint husband-wife return even if the wife (or husband) had no income in 1961.

There are special exemptions for old age and blindness. If you were 65 or older before the end of the year, you get an extra $600 exemption. If you were blind on or before the last day of the year, you may take an extra $600 exemption regardless of your age. If you qualify on both counts, you may take two extra exemptions.

Suppose you turned 65 last year (or on Jan. 1, 1962) and your wife did, too. If you file a joint return you may take four deductions—the one apiece everyone is entitled to and one each on account of age. That means the first $2,400 of income reported is not taxable. If you and your wife file separate returns, you take two exemptions each.

You may take blindness and old age exemptions for a wife or husband who died last year. But these special types of exemptions may not be claimed in any circumstances for a dependent other than a spouse. A parent, child or other dependent counts as only one exemption for you regardless of age or blindness.

Certain Requirements
To claim someone as a dependent, your relationship must meet these five tests:
1. You must have furnished more than half of his or her support in the past year.
2. The dependent's gross income must have been less than $600 for the year, unless the dependent is your child under 19 or a full-time student. (Details on this exception below.)
3. The dependent must be closely related to you or, if not, must be a member of your household who is living in your home.
4. The dependent must be a citizen of the United States. If he is not, he must be a resident of this country, Canada, Mexico, Panama or the Canal Zone.

Here's an example: An elderly mother is supported by two sons and a daughter, each of whom provides one-third of her support. One of the three may claim the mother as an exemption if the other two support her file with their returns statements waiving their right to take an exemption for the dependent. They use Form 2120 to make this declaration.

Other points about exemptions:
—You may not claim an exemption for your spouse if you were divorced or legally separated during the year, regardless of support payments.
—You may take an exemption for a child born to you last year who died before the year ended. You may claim the child even if it lived for only a few seconds or minutes—but not if it was still-born.

Peace Returns to GOP Ranks

A complaint has often been heard from the independent voter, unaffiliated with either major party, that there was so little to choose between the Republicans and the Democrats. Their avowed goals were so much alike, he felt.

This both Republicans and Democrats denied. But at the start of the current campaign, which comes to a pause at the June 5 primary then booms along in high gear until the November 6 election, the Republicans seemingly had adopted another Democratic practice. They started fighting among themselves.

This was supposed to be an integral part of Democratic procedure and their own private practice. But when election day rolled around, all internal bickering and feuds were forgotten and the Democrats closed ranks and marched to the polls in a solid body.

The Republicans started their campaign off with a bang. The sniping started last fall and the battle between Richard Nixon and Goodwin Knight assumed serious proportions until the former governor was forced to yield to physicians' orders and withdraw from the race.

The Republicans barely started to breathe easier when a new skirmish broke out, right at home in Riverside County.

Two factions in the County Republican Central Committee came to verbal blows with charges and counter charges. Each claimed the other was using the committee to boost their own favored entry in the race for the Republican congressional nomination at the June 5 primary.

Richard Baird, chairman of the committee, was the target of the attack by backers of Richard Darling, former chairman who had resigned when he was urged to become a candidate for the Congress. Darling later decided against making that race and his supporters sought to have him replace Baird.

The fight loomed as a bitter one and other Republican leaders became deeply concerned. A parliamentary ruling balked plans to oust Baird earlier this month. The battle was expected to be renewed tonight with added bitterness at Riverside. But there will be no new fighting.

The differences in the county's GOP ranks were resolved by the leaders of the two rival factions themselves.

Baird resigned and Darling withdrew as a candidate for the post. Peace has been restored to the ranks of county Republicans long before the time to march to the polls.

They met and shook hands and both issued statements to the effect that prior events and bickering had not forced either to take this action.

Both declared that there was but one idea back of their actions.

For the sake of Republican harmony, they said.

As a result of the joint action of the two leaders, selection of a new Central Committee chairman may not be made tonight but put off until next week. Among those prominently rumored as a successor to Baird as chairman is Edgar L. McCoubrey of Palm Springs.

McCoubrey has long been active in Republican ranks and his choice to lead the party in the county would be a wise one.

Desert Circus Time Is Nearing

Away back in the early 30s Thelma Wertheimer had the idea for a Western parade and show, the proceeds to go to the Catholic Church for needed items. It was a success and the next year, a similar event was held with the Protestant Church as beneficiary.

That idea was the precursor of the Desert Circus the first event to be officially designated by that name being held in 1934, 28 years ago tomorrow, on Washington's Birthday. It was just a one-day affair then.

Since that one-day show in 1934, the Desert Circus has been held each year with the war years.

That one-day show, however, has grown until instead of Desert Circus Day as at first, it is now Desert Circus Week. Like all other events it has had its vicissitudes and once or twice was almost dropped. But the Village rallied to its aid and it has steadily grown, as an old cliché has it, Bigger and Better.

HOLMES ALEXANDER

Your Share in Glenn's Flight

SAN DIEGO, Calif.—The New Frontier, as John F. Kennedy first mentioned it in his acceptance speech at Los Angeles, envisioned beckoning borders of scientific exploration on earth and beyond, a deepening and broadening knowledge of man and the universe, and a lifting of social and educational standards so that Man might achieve finer culture, bring off larger deeds, and so be more deserving of the gift of life and soul.

During the campaign and during the first Congressional session of his White House term, Mr. Kennedy has marred this glowing vision by identifying it with political lures and materialistic sugar plums—but, for the moment, never mind. In his first twelve months, President Kennedy has seen his military and scientific teams put two manned flights into Space—the beginnings, for the Free World, of opportunities and unimaginable discoveries that have to be compared with the geographical and scientific successes of the Renaissance.

Those news reporters who saw the blast-off of Colonel John Glenn on Project Mercury, and who covered his return to earth from orbital flight, enjoyed one of the unforgettable privileges of our ink-stained trade. My own assignment was tame by comparison. It encompassed a run-through, at the General Dynamics Astronautics complex at San Diego of the processes by which the Atlas intercontinental missile (built to carry thermonuclear destructions adapted to carry a man on a sci-to targets half a world away) was adapted to carry a man on a scientific excursion into Space and to return him, with a wealth of knowledge and experience, to his family and his duties in the U.S. Marine Corps.

There are a lot of matters in our age which we would want to be different, but Glenn's flight does seem to be a right occasion for noting the unexampled advantages of being alive today. Aside from Russia, where it is little pleasure to live, we are the only nation on earth with the intellectual and material capacity to launch an orbital flight, let alone the series of flights which we plan. Myriad details for structural integrity of the carrier, for the synchronization of the power plant and guidance system, and for the protection of the passenger's life, his rescue in the event of a malfunction from two inches above the launching pad to far out into Space, are incomprehensible even when patiently presented by skilled scientists and experts.

While the taxpayer in each of us groans as these prodigious undertakings help to drive us to the era of $100 billion budgets, with the biggest increases in military and Space projects, the citizen in us can take a lot of comfort. A dozen large companies get the prime contracts, but the money spreads to hundreds of secondary contractors, thousands of supplier and hundreds of thousands of workers whose brains and fingers are constantly challenged to make improvements and receive higher awards.

Inspired by the modern environment of efficiency and automation, I recently invested heavily in an International Business Machine Corporation electric typewriter—the first journalist, I think in Washington to do so. Without any doubt, I would have paid more and waited longer for this labor-saving device had not the Russians driven the Defense Department fifteen years ago to invest in a whole family of electronic computers, thereby speeding up the perfection and production of advanced business machinery.

Broadly, it all means that we are a better country, a higher civilization, because of the feats which our enemies have forced us to undertake. Although we bear heavy tax burdens, and have bequeathed our progeny a huge national debt, this money, as it goes into weapons and exploration vehicles, is already paying off.

In such mundane matters as the cleaning or hardware, the purification of room atmosphere, the improved accuracy of instrumental measurements, temperature control, telemetry and other advanced communications and recordings—all demonstrated to us reporters as part of the preparation for the Glenn flight—the general population becomes the eventual beneficiary.

The Renaissance brought to Europe magnificent voyages of adventure and discovery, mind-shaking revelations of science, an unprecedented outburst of literature and art. When Mr. Kennedy campaigned to "move America forward," these things were in his mind. We must hope he will not let them be replaced by the clamor and grab for material handouts.

"BOY, TALK ABOUT JUNK MAIL"

THIS SIDE Of The Sun

R. F. "Phat" GRAETTINGER

This is to an old wooden chair To which for years, I've had quite a flair. To look at, not pleasing And into it easing So long has made part of me flare.

Just a word of appreciation for a veteran piece of furniture which I have comfortably covered while sending thousands of words across the platen of this typewriter.

IT HAS WEATHERED many a threat. In fact, it has been ticketed to surmount the junk heap so often that I have my own anthem when I come to work by the dawn's early light. Only my version ends: "And the chair was still there." At our Open House the other day, I'll admit that it did look sort of incongruous, sitting like an ugly duckling surrounded by all of that pretty, modern furniture.

A SENSE OF SHAME came over me and I decided I would bow to progress, be noble and brave. I would sit on one of the new steel chairs. But I wouldn't like it.

You see, this one war horse on which I perch so solidly has a full-fashioned back that starts at the part you sit on (the chair) and extends upward to and beyond the scapula.

SINCE I, TOO, have a full-fashioned back which extends northward from the part I sit on (me, this time) to the scapula and beyond, the ancient piece of office equipment and I have a sort of togetherness.

These new chairs are compact models. They are pleasing to look at but they have an adjustable back rest about six inches wide which hits the sitter in the small of the back.

THAT'S THE TROUBLE. I haven't a small of the back. I adjust the back rest to where I see it hits other people and which I think is the right level for me.

And just when I estimate all is well and sink down, the gadget that hold it come loose and the back drops to the large of my back. Irritating.

BUT IN THE INTEREST of harmony and in an aesthetic mood, like I said, I suggested that, with company coming, we might sort of sweep this old timer (the chair again) under the rug and hide it in the store room.

I would teeter on one of the new chairs providing I was supplied with a seat belt.

COMPANY CAME and I made like a guide reeling off statistics and information. The more agile younger guys got all of the pretty girls but I gave better lectures. I was able to keep my mind on the machinery.

And every time I looked, there was the chair. The boys made a feature out of it and even said it had concealed rockers. Anyway, I offered to bow to progress but I guess virtue is its own reward. I'm still sitting pretty—in that old chair.

ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

Dear Abby...

DEAR ABBY: I read in the newspaper that all the "Tarzan" books were banned from children's libraries because Tarzan and Jane were living in sin! What child would ever think of that? That is just another example of what some ditzminded adults can stir up. I would like your opinion on this. —ADULT AND DISGUSTED

DEAR ADULT: As I recall the Tarzan stories, he and Jane just "went together." If they did any high living, it was all in a tree, and unrecorded.

DEAR ABBY: I have been married a year and have not yet invited my in-laws to my home for dinner, although I have had many other dinner guests. I have nice dishes and people tell me I am a good cook, but here is my story: My mother-in-law has made fun of, criticized and held her nose in describing dinners she has been to and how terrible the meal was, when I know how hard some of her hostesses have worked to make it nice. Am I wrong? If I am, I will invite her. —NO NAME PLEASE

DEAR NO NAME: You don't have to invite her for "me" sake, but perhaps you should for your husband's. Do your best and prove her wrong.

DEAR ABBY: My problem is a man I have gone with for two years. I am 19 and he is 22. I moved 80 miles from where he lives. He makes very good money and drive a new car, yet he claims he can't afford to drive down to see me on week-ends. He says if I go with anyone else, he'll break my neck. But I hear that he runs around with a different girl every night. Do you think I'm wasting my time sitting home? —NO WEEK-END

DEAR NO: Yes. And if you sit at home while he chases around, "your" "week-end" is your head.

CONFIDENTIAL To Helen and the Girls: Pizza is a pie. It should properly be eaten with a fork in public.

How is the world treating you? Unload your problems on Abby, care of this paper.

February 21, 1932 "Broncho Charlie" Miller, 82, the last of the Pony Express riders, rode through Palm Springs on his much-publicized horseback ride from New York City to San Francisco.

Desert Riders voted to stage two rides each week to enable more visitors and Villagers to enjoy the desert scenery and weather.

A new book by Edmund Jaeger, lecturer and author, entitled "Denizens of the Desert" has been published. The material was gathered by Mr. Jaeger from his hillside home here.

BOB CONSIDINE:

Earlier Astronaut Had Hair-Raising Adventures

CAPE CANAVERAL — HEN THERE WAS AN EARLIER AS there was an earlier astronaut named Jeffries... Dr. John Jeffries. He had troubles, too, and hair-raising adventures.

His was the first dangerous voyage up from the bottom of this sea in which we mortals live, the atmosphere. Happened on Nov. 30, 1784, with the aid of a daring booster named the balloon, Bill Kinney of the staff of "The Airman," official journal of the U.S. Air Force, told us about this intrepid spaceman not long ago. It was the first plug I had read for the man since, as a child, I haunted the public library in Washington, D.C., reading (as it turned out) every volume it then possessed on flying.

Dr. Jeffries was not the first balloonist, any more than the astronauts are the first spacemen. Like them, however, he happened to be the best. He flew and observed at 9,300 feet in 1784, drifting from London to Dartford, Kent. One hundred and 38 years later, "Hap" Arnold made headlines in this country and through the world by flying a powered aircraft up to 6,540 feet.

Like Project Mercury, his pioneering was not cheap, nor was it without soul searching.

Pilot Came High

He needed a pilot to take him up into the realm where he was sure he would discover all kinds of phenomena, and found him in Jean Pierre Blanchard, a French Apostle of the Montgolfier Brothers, who had astounded all France (and U.S. Ambassador Benjamin Franklin) by ascending into the air by means of a hot air paper bag the year before. Blanchard put a stiff price on his service, 100 guineas—let's make it $520. Project Mercury has cost $400,000 to this point, and that's just the beginning of our man-in-space program.

As for Jeffries' soul searching, there was a question of divided allegiance. Boston born. Harvard bred. John Jeffries stayed loyal to George III, served with His Majesty's forces against the rebellious colonists, transferred his residence and practice to London, became enormously interested in the work of the Royal Society, founded in 1662 for the purpose of "Improving Natural Knowledge." The Balloon, it seemed to him, was no plaything. (Generations later, the Wright Brothers thought of their immortal craft as a kind of sporty means of travel over short distances.) Dr. Jeffries suggested to the academy that there might be, at least different temperatures as man ascended into space.

Report by Gravity

His pondola loaded with telescope, compass, chronometer, his dog, hydrometer, electrometer, thermometer, M. Blanchard and certain provisions, Dr. Jeffries blasted off his cramped pad in crowded London in full view of the Prince of Wales, the Duchess of Devonshire and thousands more. The basket bumped along neighboring roofs and chimneys until Jeffries jettisoned enough ballast to make it airworthy, then took off. He waved a flag at the royalty, and some newspaper cad the next day identified it as American.

"We rose above the reach of any farther terrestrial obstructions," Jeffries noted in the diary he kept. He dropped four written reports from on high, three of which were found on the ground and delivered to the addressees, the shivering of his dog was a surer sign of falling temperature than his instruments told him. He embraced the animal, put on his own leopard skin hat, the temperature dropped to five degrees below freezing at the incredible apogee of 9,300. He had gathered a treasury of new knowledge for the Academy and the world. He and Blanchard celebrated, on high, with cold chicken and wine.

LESS THAN A YEAR after Palm Springs Pathfinders decided to build an Olympic-sized swimming pool for Palm Springs' Boys' Club, earmarking $7,000 to start the fund, ground has been broken for the swimming pool. Additional money for the pool was raised by special projects, in-

MUSEUM LECTURE GIVES

A Vicarious Trip to Lapland

"A Year of Fun With The Lapps" is the title of the lecture to be offered with colored slides by Mrs. Virginia Raymond Davidson at the Palm Springs Desert Museum on Friday, Feb. 23 at 8 p.m. On Saturday, March 3, at 8 p.m., she will take Southlanders with her "Across The Top of The World With The Lapps and Their Reindeer."

A photographer and writer, Mrs. Davidson has spent several years in Lapland, enough time to acquire pictures and material about the little known nomads who live in the Arctic. She is also responsible for an exhibit of Lapp dress and artifacts now touring the United States on loan from the Norsk Folke Museum in Oslo.

Mrs. Davidson not only writes and lectures about the Lapps but she is making it possible next month for six lucky Southlanders to have two weeks of fun with them. One Palm Springs couple has already expressed interest in being members of the tour which is limited to six persons.

Mrs. Davidson assured the couple, shivering in the recent unusual cold spell, that they won't be cold in Lapland where the strong spring sun is warming and where they'll be dressed for the climate. During the reindeer trek the party will sleep each night in mountain inns, a cozy substitution for the cold tent in which Mrs. Davidson slept during the migrations she has made with the Lapps and their great herds of reindeer.

Residents of Palm Springs who can't go on the reindeer safari itself will have the opportunity for

Visitor Grew Lettuce at Empire State Building

Week long guests here have included Mr. and Mrs. Richard Fitzgerald (he is President of the Riverside County Bar Association) who golfed and toured the neighborhood amazed at what has been happening here in the way of new building, etc.; Mr. and Mrs. Al Hintze; Mr. and Mrs. Don Milton (he was photographer for the Classic at Bermuda Dunes) and their daughter Patty Joe; and Mr. and Mrs. John Schumacher from Long Island, N.Y. Schumacher was very interested in Coachella Valley' agriculture, being a connoisseur of extra fine lettuce. At one time, he said, he raised lettuce in New York City where the Empire State building new towers skyward, and sold only to New York's most exclusive restaurants. Later as the city started growing he moved to Long Island and raised his special lettuce there. The Schumachers, now retired, keep busy by travelling over the country. Surprises are often rewarding as well as fun. Vera Gordon, local realtor, was told by boss Edith Eddy Ward to attend a realty meeting at 7:45 a.m. sharp. This meant that Vera had to arise at 5 a.m., feed two birds, two goldfish and a dog, arrange her home to be shown (it's for sale), give her young and brilliant protegee of 12, Ettore Graziano, his breakfast, take him to school, before arriving at the meeting exactly at a quarter to eight. Vera watched them set up the camera equipment for the showing of Sun City with only one ear attuned to Dick Coffin, president who was giving a short talk on their Award of the Month, (this honors a local realtor for rendering outstanding service in the community) and was unaware that her name had been called. Some one finally shook her arm and told her to get up and accept the award. The surprise was complete. It was because of bringing Ettore here from an orphanage in Rome and while sponsoring him giving him all of the advantages that our children enjoy. Ettore, by the way, has responded by receiving "A" in spelling after six months of study, being put ahead in his school work, and becoming a first-class scout after the fourth meeting. Vera was so happy and so surprised she couldn't help shedding a few tears. To raise funds for the Animal Shelter a Bow Wow bridge luncheon is being held Feb. 27, at the Tom Brown home. —Pat Anderson
